The Nehalem coal field is a reality, and probably a very valuable one to Portland, one of whose principal needs is abundant and fairly cheap fuel for ships, furnaces, factories and other purposes. It is asserted and believed that the Nehalem coal bed is ample in quantity and sufficient in quality. One report is that it is the best bed of coal on the Coast. This perhaps needs further confirmation, but at all events all possible advantage should be taken of this coal field.—Telegram.

Episcopal Bazaar.

Episcopal Bazzar.

The annual bazzar by the ladies of the Episcopal church of this city, after being conducted two nights, was brought to a close last Friday evening, the occasion being characterized by splendid success in every particular—socially and financially. The three booths were conducted this year by the same ladies under whose charge their affairs were administered heretofore, Mrs. Cliff and Miss Miles at the fancy work booth, Mrs. Davis and Mins Whitney at the candy booth, and Mrs. Switzer, Mrs. George and Mrs. Cox at the refreshment booth. Those attending each evening were pleasantly entertained by resitations, singing and reading. The railing of the dolls the last evening was the principal feature of excitement, Master Ray Watts winning the bronett doll and Little Miss Mary Robinson winning the blonde. Mrs. Daggett, of Houlton, was fortenate in capturing the sofa pillow made and rafiled by Miss May Whitney. Nearly 400 was realized from the sale of articles, which amount is to be used for placing a belify on the Episcopal church. The ladies are very grateful to an indulgent, generous public, and wish to particularly thank all who rendered assistance in any way.

their efforts to entertain the members and friends. The literary and musical portion of the programme was well reveceived, and the dramatic part evoked frequent outbursts of laughter and applause. The one-set farce, "Mrs. Baxter's Baby," of five characters, requiring about thirty minutes for its rendition, had each character well sustained by Mrs. Gib-on, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Potter, Mr. Potter and Mr. Rawley. This was the last number on the program, after which tables were laid and lunch served. Later in the evening dancing was indulged in, spparently very much to the satisfaction of a large number of persons, who indulged in that pastime. A cushion made by Mrs. Daggett, and raffled at 15 conts a number, brought $3, and was won by D. Davis. The sum of money realized was $7, which will be used to purchase badges for the Assembly officers.

M. E. Church Dedicated.

The Methodist Church building recently completed in this city was dedicated last Sunday. The building cost about $1400, and is a substantial and creditable structure. The ceremonies throughout the day were conducted by Bishop Earl Cranston, who delivered a sermon in the forenoon and a very entertaining lecture on the subject "China." Rishop Cranston had spent eight months in China doing missionary work, therefore fits lecture was more interesting. Before the building could be dedicated it was necessary to raise about $400, which was made up before the dedicatory ceremony took place in the evening. A special programme of vocal music of appropriate hymns and anthems was rendered, which added interest to the exercise. The completion and dedication of this building makes the third church building in the city, all free from debt, any one of which would be a credit to any place.

THE COAL PROBLEM.

remembered, ones offered to build the railroad provided certain concessions was even made—perhaps it is exaggerated somewhat—that the difference in cost between a visit to Puget Sound and one to the Columbia River, growing out of the price of coal at the two places, in, to a trans-Pacific steamship, $1500. These figures could be shaved down, and still leave a margin of great incentive to the development and delivery of cheap coal for Portland. It is evident that the project is getting attention in railroad circles, and it may yet be carried out by some existing railroad company. But if it is not, then Portland must itself investigate the Lower Nehalem coal, and if its quantity and quality prove as alleged, open the mines and build the railroad. Mr. George T. Myers recently offered $25 to start a subscription to get help along the coal problem if we are sure we have found the right coal. It will take something like $1.500,000 to builder is put in charge of the work and if the scheme is promoted with something of the vim and detertination our good friend Dan McAllen has shown in the matter of a World's Fair. The little city of Salem has refunded its debt in 4 per cent call bonds, all taken by its own residents. Certainly Portland can float $1,500,000 in railroad bonds to bring coal in here and establish impregnably the city's commercial and manufacturing supremacy. It is the purpose of the Oregonian to pursue the ore investigation of the coal problem, and it invites the aid and co-operation of any who are qualified to assist.—Oregonian.
